NEWPORT PAGNELL COACH CRASH

Why did coach pull in?

BY MKNEWS TEAM

editor@mk-news.co.uk

THE coach driver arrested on suspicion of drink driving was making an unscheduled stop when his vehicle overturned as he entered Newport Pagnell Service Station.

This newspaper can exclusively reveal that the National Express coach was running 20 minutes late when the driver made the surprise stop on Monday fewer than three miles from the Coachway bus station at Junction 14 which was part of his scheduled route.

The 34-year-old driver from West Bromwich was breathalysed at the scene after being cut from the wreckage by firefighters.

Joy Williams, spokeswoman for National Express confirmed yesterday: "It was not a scheduled rest stop. We have not yet had the opportunity to understand the reason why he stopped, it will be part of our investigations.

"Passenger safety is and always has been our number one priority and we are currently supporting the police with their investigations.

"As a police investigation is ongoing I cannot comment further on this particular issue."

Six people were seriously injured and 24 received minor injuries after the incident on the M1 southbound service station slip road.

The driver, who suffered cracked ribs and an injured arm, was arrested on suspicion of drink driving and dangerous driving.

A blood sample was taken at hospital and sent for analysis to determine the level of alcohol in his blood.

Police have still not interviewed him and will not do so until he is deemed well enough.

It is believed the single decker coach clipped a kerb at about 4pm before toppling over onto its right side hitting a tree and a lamppost.

Slip roads are de-restricted zones which means there is no speed limit.

The 777 coach service left Birmingham at 2pm and made its way to Coventry bus station. It was due to stop at MK Coachway at 3.40pm before making its way to Luton and Stansted airports.

Within minutes, police, fire crews and six ambulances had turned up at the scene along with two air ambulances.

Police seized the vehicle's tachograph recorder, which will show its speed at the time of the smash.

The coach was recovered from the scene late on Monday night.

Yesterday forensic collision investigators were conducting a fingertip search of the area.

A 61-year-old man was airlifted to the JRII Hospital in Oxford with serious arm injuries, a broken pelvis and facial injuries.

Twelve people including the driver were originally taken to Northampton General Hospital, where four remain.

Four passengers were taken to Milton Keynes General, with one later being transferred to the JRII with a head injury and another one being discharged.

Almost immediately after the incident a helpline was opened for people concerned about

"I remember windows smashing and people screaming – I could see blood on the seats and there was glass everywhere

– Kirsty Plummer

BY MKNEWS TEAM
editor@mk-news.co.uk

WHEN 33 passengers stepped on a National Express coach on Monday they could never have predicted the drama that would follow.

As their coach entered Newport Pagnell Service Station it hit the kerb, dramatically toppled over onto its side, striking a tree and lamppost and injuring 30 passengers.

The seriously injured driver was cut free from the vehicle only to be breathalised moments later and arrested on suspicion of drink driving and dangerous driving, before he was taken to hospital.

Passengers - including children as young as eight-years-old - had to crawl out of the wreckage. Some escaped through the skylights.

The blood soaked walking wounded were treated on the grass verge watching in shock as the more seriously injured were lifted to hospital in air ambulances.

One described experiencing the traumatic event as a series of 'snapshots'. Others said they felt lucky to be alive.

A nearby resident described hearing a 'bang and a crash and the sound of scraping metal' as the coach tipped over and slid along the ground.

Mr Ubhi was sitting at the front with his eight-year-old daughter.

He said: "I fell asleep and woke up just as the bus was turning in.

"I held a pole beside me and braced myself and shielded my daughter as we went up on to the kerb, came close to the lamppost and toppled over onto the side.

"As we left the motorway I could see each individual event like second by second snapshots. I should have called to the driver to turn.

"We were hanging against the top by our seat belts.

"I managed to get my daughter out and she dropped down. It was always my priority to get her out.

"Next thing I saw was an arm pop through the front windscreen and someone said lets pull her out.

"One lady's face was covered in blood and she had a gash in her arm."

Luggage spilled out onto the pavement that was covered in glass. Some windows had shattered as the coach hit the floor while others were broken as people desperately tried to get out.

Sally Marshall, of Sorrell Drive, Newport Pagnell, said: "I heard a bang and that was it. All I heard really was a bang and a crash and the sound of scraping metal."

Service station manager David Goring and his staff rushed to the wreck and initiated their disaster management plan, helping people to safety.

Mr Goring said: "I dialled 999 and told the operator 'This is a serious incident and you are going to need a lot of resources here'.

"It was an awful scene and I thought 'Is this really happening?'

"The coach was on it's side and we were getting people out through the windows.

"There were people caught up in seats and there was glass and peoples' baggage everywhere.

"The driver was trapped in his seat in between the steering column and the steering wheel.

"He was quite badly cut up and one of our street lights was halfway into his cab.

NEWPORT PAGNELL COACH CRASH

Injured passengers sit on grass verge at Newport Pagnell service area after their coach had overturned

"There was one gentleman with a nasty partial amputation.

"His right arm was hanging off just below the elbow.

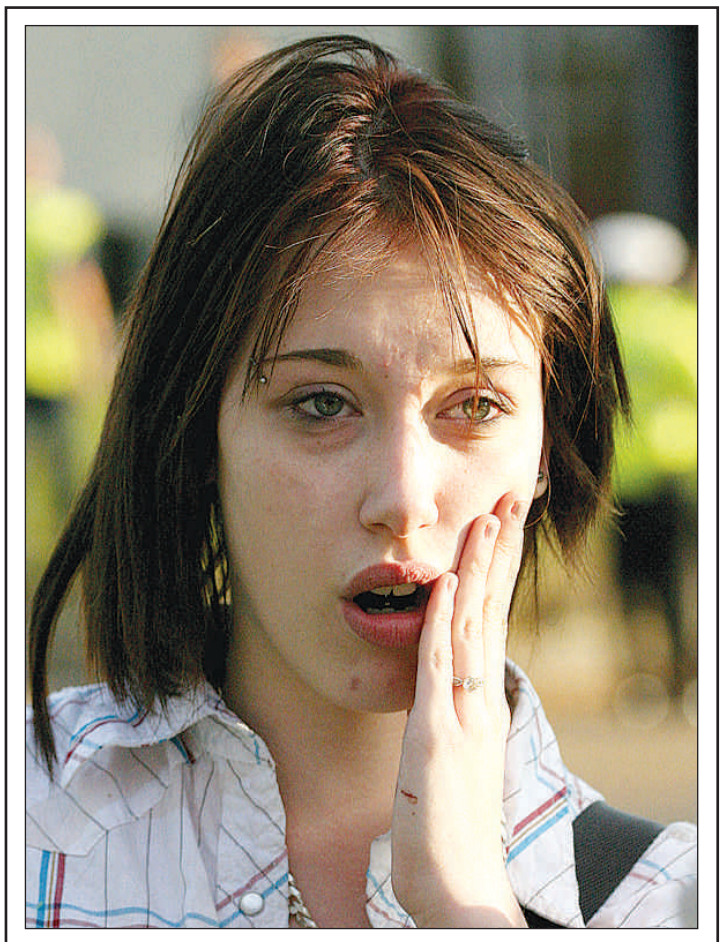
"We tried to keep him comfortable while we stemmed the flow of blood to his arm.

"I'm so proud of my staff, they did everything they could to help people."

Police spokesman Christopher Knibb described the scene as 'carnage'.

MKNEWS reporter Rob Gibson was at the scene. He said: "The kerb was all crumbled and shattered.

"It looked like the driver misjudged the bend."



KIRSTY Plummer,16, above, had to clamber out of the coach through the smashed rear window.

She said: "When we came round the corner we knew it was going to happen.

"I remember windows smashing and people screaming – I could see blood on the seats and there was glass everywhere."

Her 15-year-old friend Jaidene McClaine said: "The driver had been swerving round corners.

"All I remember is the coach just shaking and I fell on top of my friend. I got up and looked for my trainer and the next thing I knew I was on the grass verge, being checked out."

The girls escaped with minor injuries.

friends or relatives on board the coach.

The injured included a 45-year-old woman from Church Stretton with a dislocated elbow, shoulder and facial injuries, a 28-year-old man from Coventry with a cracked knee, a 39-year-old woman from Worcester suffering a head injury, a 60-year-old man from France with cuts to the head, a 57-year-old woman from Australia, and a 20-year-old man from Poland.

Yesterday the tarmac was being ripped up from the slip road due to the amount of diesel that had spilled onto it.

Officers are appealing for anyone who saw the coach travelling from Birmingham, or anyone who witnessed the incident, to contact them on 0845 8 505 505.

Animal magic

SIR – I am writing to say how pleased I was to read that Gizmo the cat has been sucessfully reunited with his family.

I saw Gizmo at Woughton campus and called the RSPCA to report an animal in distress.

They said they would do their best to find him and thanked me for calling.

So often you never hear the outcome of that kind of thing so I was genuinely delighted to read in this week's paper that this story has a happy ending.

Kerry Farquhar

Animal tragic

SIR – Once again I find it staggering that people feel more apparent love towards an animal than they do a human being.

Reading your article '£1,000 reward to catch hedgehog-beating teenagers' nearly made me choke on my coffee.

A man was beaten up trying to intervene when a gang of thugs were throwing things at the creature.

Yet nobody has come forward offering a reward to catch the thugs who attacked this person.

Oh no, instead the animal charity PETA is offering the cash to anyone with information leading to an arrest for torturing the hedgehog.

Don't get me wrong I'm not anti hedgehog, but I do think a human being's life is worth more than that of a small spiny mammal.

Beatrix Potter has a lot to answer for.

Name and address supplied

Mad Dog's demise

SIR – I read on your website that 'Mad Dog' Martin Allen had been relieved of his duties at Leicester City just four games into the job.

I have to say that on hearing that news I laughed out loud.

He dumped on the Dons from a great height when he left us.

All that talk of his vision for the future was clearly a load of rubbish.

I am delighted that Leicester saw the error of their ways appointing him before it went too far.

At least Allen leaving meant we could get hold of one of the most promising young managers around in Paul Ince who actually wants football to be played the way it should be.

So thanks for that Martin, but I feel sorry for the next club foolish enough to believe you might actually be a good thing for them.

Name and address supplied

Arrest speeders

SIR – Well done to West Bletchley Council for highlighting the dangers of speeding motorists in our town.

Every day as I walk my children to school I see car drivers paying little regard to the speed or roads they are travelling on.

Good on the council for raising this constant problem, although I can't help feeling that unless police officers are actually down there arresting people the problem is unlikely to go away.

Mrs S Jones
Whaddon Way, Bletchley

Garages solution

SIR – I would like to thank all those who have spent time and energy dealing with the problems associated with the garages to the rear of Aylesbury Street and Walnut Drive in Fenny Stratford (Vandalised garages repaired 34 times).

Readers will be aware that there have been ongoing problems of anti-social behaviour, vandalism and arson in these garages, and should also know that some of us have been working for years with local residents and the various agencies to deal with them.

Following the latest arson episode a couple of weeks ago, council officers reacted quickly to board up the garages, only for the boarding to be ripped down within days.

Those garages have now been securely sealed, again in record time – well done to all involved.

I can only agree with council officers that constantly boarding up garages will not resolve the problem, although in the short term the quick response of council staff helps to reassure residents that somebody is taking the problem seriously.

Options for a permanent solution were initially discussed in the spring of 2006, and hopefully these can now go forward at greater speed.

In the meantime, I have asked the police and council enforcement teams to increase activity in the area to provide additional reassurance.

Boundary bounders

SIR – Re: 'Fenny firms in road sign ruckus'.

Thank you once again, the authorities, for attempting to remove the town of Fenny Stratford from the city map. We are slowly having our heritage eroded by outside forces who know no better.

David Kwiatkowski says: 'I am struggling to see what the problem is about' – I will try and explain: Fenny is a town from the Roman era, steeped in history, centuries older than Bletchley.

Each and every town, village and hamlet has its parish boundaries, be they rivers, roads or, in rural areas, just double hedges running across fields.

There is no need to site two sets of information boundary signs.

Where were our local councillors' voices when the proposal was being debated? Have they no concern for their constituents' views?

I would hope that the new erecting team would have an up-to-date map in their possession.

D Denchfield
Maple Grove, Fenny Stratford

Every building should have a metal lining

SIR – Have we all been too negative about the buildings springing up at the Hub in CMK?

I have just seen a fantastic building of silver-coated metal tubing stretching from ground level up into the sky. How I hope this marvelous piece of metal work stays in place.

It is so much more interesting than the carbuncles that are its neighbours.

A conversation with the architect would probably reveal the scientific nature of the structure as being 'scaffolding'.

Alas, I expect it will be removed and reveal instead sheets of glass in concrete.

Just think, someone has spent years struggling to design such concrete rubbish as is being built at the Hub.

Paul Bartlett

Thanks for front page focus on monk's funeral

SIR – I am deeply indebted to you and your paper for giving me (among all others) and the HCUK (Hindu Council UK) the prominence on your front page and elsewhere in the edition of MK NEWS August 29.

The front page wide angle view is the best I have seen, focusing everyone's attention onto the Hindu mourner [speaker].

Breast best

SIR – I'm writing in response to your article about the Milton Keynes Partnership Board member who was banned from breastfeeding in the mayoral car in Manchester.

I think it's absolutely disgusting that this was allowed to happen.

Everybody knows that 'breast is best' for the baby, how could anyone deny a mother who is allowed to bring her baby to work the chance to breast feed it?

Breast milk gives babies all the nutrients they need.

It improves the bond between mother and baby, and is also cheap.

I am glad that Dr Pauline Lane was awarded £7,000 in compensation. It is a shame that the £170,000 costs will come out of the pockets of Manchester's taxpayers, but hopefully it will teach the ignorant bods at the council a lesson.

Nora Hillworth

Warming the cockles

SIR – I went to the Woburn Oyster Festival at the weekend and just wanted to let everybody know what a fantastic event it was.

The streets were buzzing with people and the range of stalls was nothing short of spectacular.

Shellfish, jewellery, and home-made jams and other goods were for sale. Combined with fairground rides for the children, I think a great day was had by all who attended.

It was also brilliant event for the local businesses, bringing in lots of trade.

I'm already looking forward to next year.

Jennifer Holiday
Wavendon

Willen spectacular

SIR – I would like to thank the organisers of the wakeboarding and jet ski competitions held at Willen Lake this weekend.

I and my family spent the day on Sunday down at the lake and it was a really enjoyable experience watching the spectacular tricks performed during both events.

It was a great family day out and I hope to be able to make it again next year.

Mr A Wilkes
Shenley Brook End

Demon drink

SIR – I have noticed there has been several people stabbed outside pubs recently.

Surely something needs to be done about this situation as the links between alcohol and violent crime are so obvious.

I think the police and licensees should be doing more to protect people.

Emergency teams hit 'golden hour'

EMERGENCY services worked in harmony to rescue the injured and trapped following the coach crash.

Representatives from the police, ambulance, air ambulance, fire service and hospital all said they were pleased with how the situation was managed.

They said the co-ordinated effort meant the situation was under control quickly and patients were treated in record time.

It has been cited as the worst major incident in Milton Keynes since the Jury's Inn scaffolding collapse which took a worker's life and seriously injured two others on April 11 last year.

City police boss Superintendent Mick Doyle said: "It was an excellent response by all the emergency services, getting to the scene, ensuring the flow of passengers to hospital and investigating the incident.

"Now we will piece together what happened, looking at the driver, the vehicle, the witnesses and the forensics from the coach."

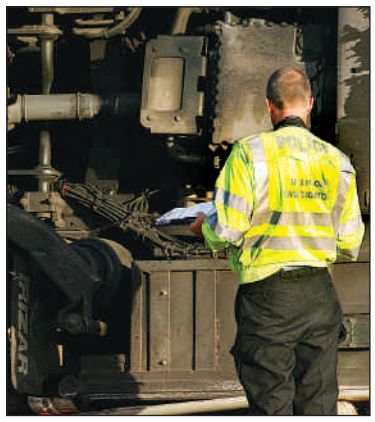
Mark Jones, from East Midlands Ambulance service, said it took less than one hour from the time the incident was reported at 4pm for the first serious patients to be removed from the scene.

"It's called the 'golden hour' and we achieved it here," he said.

"A further 11 patients left the scene within one hour 20 minutes."

Three ambulance services were involved in the incident with South Central Ambulance in the lead.

Spokesman Helen Robinson-Gordon said: "It was a co-ordinated effort with staff from across the Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire division.



A police collision investigator examines the coach's underside

"Thames Valley Air Ambulance brought A&E doctors from John Radcliffe and Milton Keynes General Hospital to the scene.

"We also had non-emergency transport services staff taking the minor injuries patients to hospital."

Buckinghamshire Fire and Rescue Service mobilised three fire crews, two from Broughton and one from Newport Pagnell, and a support unit from Aylesbury, which provides additional rescue equipment.

Ian Taylor, group manager of emergency planning for the fire authority, said: "When the first crew arrived the scene can best be described as pandemonium.

"There were 33 people on the coach and a large number had been assisted from the vehicle by members of the public.

"There were a lot of people milling around and a lot of walking wounded.

"We rendered basic first aid to those with minor injuries, releasing the ambulance crews to deal with the more seriously injured.

"Meanwhile two of the fire crews concentrated on freeing the driver and assisting with others who were seriously injured."

It took 40 minutes for firefighters to release the driver from the coach using hydraulic cutting equipment.

They had to remove the dashboard area and part of the front of the coach.

Mr Taylor added: "The emergency services all worked together in perfect harmony."

MK General Hospital responded by implementing part of it's major incident plan in preparation for potentially large numbers of casualties by cordoning off one of its A&E entrances shortly after 4.45pm.

A&E consultant Rob Simpson said: "This allowed us to keep accurate records of those coming in and allowed staff to triage patients in order to refer them to the appropriate department quickly."

The hospital took three seriously injured patients, one of whom was quickly transferred to John Radcliffe in Oxford, and one person with minor injuries who was discharged that evening.

DAMIAN SMITH

Technology has given car drivers air of invincibility

Our occasional series of guest columnists is back. Today we ask DAMIAN SMITH, chief executive of Buckinghamshire and Milton Keynes Fire & Rescue Authority to share his thoughts with you

EVERY day in this country, and elsewhere, the Fire and Rescue Service is responding to a growing number of road traffic collisions – accidents which by their very nature lead to entrapment, serious injury or in the worst cases death.

Our firefighters see the most awful and challenging of incidents.

They are, however, spared the shock and despair of the families and friends. That should not be wished upon anyone.

I am mindful that over recent years the design of all road vehicles, particularly cars, has changed markedly.

Technology has enhanced these vehicles with improved engine efficiency, braking systems incorporating anti-skid functionality, inbuilt safety features and, most notably, air-bags.

All have contributed to creating an illusion of impregnability.

The reality is far from the imagined – I would contend that the key component of any vehicle is the driver.

One must question therefore whether the driver has evolved in the same way.

Why do people (and it is not only young adult males) drive at consistently unsafe speeds?

Why is overtaking committed at a time when the safety of the vehicle's occupants is at greatest risk?

Why do we place in our vehicles so many distractions that hinder our ability to concentrate on the priority of driving considerately and safely?

When I was younger and armoured by a belief in my own invincibility, I drove too fast with little consideration for other road users.

A more thoughtful work colleague reminded me that being responsible for my own death may be acceptable to me, but causing death to someone else was both unacceptable and blatantly stupid.

That, and having children, reminded me comprehensively of my own vulnerability.

No-one can single-handedly stop deaths occurring on our roads. Collectively, however, we can have an impact (no pun intended).

If we care about others, and ourselves, surely we have a duty and responsibility to advise and guide them.

My simple advice would be to:

Adjust one's driving in light of the prevailing weather conditions and traffic volumes.

Create extra time to complete a journey and ensure the drive can be more relaxed – even when unexpected delays occur.

Find a safe place to park to transmit or receive calls or text messages if the vehicle you are driving does not have hands-free equipment. It is illegal to do otherwise.

As a passenger, point out hazards of which the driver may be unaware.

Consideration on the part of all road users should make us safer and our journeys more stress-free.

It should also stop my wife remarking when identifying speedy or aggressive drivers: "They must be rushing for a meeting with the undertaker."

> When I was younger and armoured by a belief in my own invincibility, I drove too fast with little consideration for other road users

Artist's garage wall painting puts paid to graffiti vandals

A STREET artist has helped a city garage to stop graffiti by spray-painting a 50ft mural on its wall.

Shaun Clifton, from DJC Autos on Station Road, Newport Pagnell was so sick of the eyesore caused by young vandals on his workshop's wall that he employed an art student to show them how it should be done.

After speaking to the council's planning department, the project was approved.

Shaun said: "We wanted some proper spray art on the back of the workshop because it backs onto a busy pathway.

"Vandals kept spraying their tags onto it so we thought this might stop them.

"They will appreciate good graffiti so we called in someone who knows what they like."

The 24-year-old artist, from Milton Keynes College, goes by the name of Mecha One and came up with a design that encompassed the road's old railway station.

Mecha said: "I put the Wolverton sign on there, next to a train that appeals to the contemporary market rather than a traditional one.

"Lots of locals have stopped to watch me and they said it looks excellent.

"I used to graffiti on bus shelters when I was young but I decided I could use my skills legally to make a career out of it."

Tipples and nipples at Food Centre bar

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

TOPLESS waiters and waitresses could be serving you soon.

A licence has been granted for a new 'adult entertainment' club at the former Bar Central venue in the Food Centre on Midsummer Boulevard ...and service won't just be with a smile.

The over 18s joint, which has been applied for under the company name of Strobe Blue, could also offer striptease, drag acts and nudity after 7pm.

Dance acts will perform at the late night club on occasions.

Not a single objection was made to the proposals so a licence was granted by the council's licensing department without a hitch on Friday. The licence is active from November 1.

City men Paul Warren from Monkston, and Andrew Keech of Peartree Bridge made the application together.

The club will be driven by house music, with DJs, karaoke and live music on offer occasionally.

Phil Winsor, chief environmental health officer for the council, said: "There were no representations against the application so they got it. The fire service, police and environmental health officers flagged up any issues that needed tweaking.

"The capacity has come down slightly and we agreed on over 18s.

"We are a diverse and broad-minded authority."

The venue will not offer lapdancing.

Opening hours are set to be from noon until 5am on Saturday, and from noon until 4am from Monday to Thursday and on Sunday.

The club will all be one level with a large bar area and dancefloor.

It has signed up to the Barwatch scheme. All drinks will be served in toughened glasses.

Extended opening hours will operate at Easter, Christmas, New Year and on Bank holidays.

The capacity will be just under 450.

Ditch-crash driver arrested

A MAN was arrested for drink driving after two passengers suffered serious injuries when his car crashed into a ditch.

Early on Sunday morning a blue Lexus left the H5, between Stacey Bushes and Hodge Lee, and hit a barrier, smashing into a sign before coming to a stop at the bottom of the slope.

At 4.50am a police officer spotted the wreckage near the junction with Heathfield.

The driver and two male passengers were still alive but one of the passengers had serious arm injuries and the other was complaining of chest pains.

Police cordoned off the road while two fire crews released the trapped occupants from the car.

The driver was arrested and the passengers were taken to Milton Keynes hospital.

The H5 was reopened at around 8.50am.

The driver was questioned at Milton Keynes police station before being released on police bail until November.

Sounds of summer: Singing folk songs to the picnickers in Campbell Park

Belly good: Violet Mclaren

That's all folk: Brad Bradstock sings

Enjoying a picnic in the park

HUNDREDS of people celebrated the sights, sounds and tastes of the world in the Amphitheatre in Campbell Park on Sunday.

More than 100 live performers united 20 countries and communities to bring together Milton Keynes' very own World Picnic.

Cowds relaxed and soaked up the sounds of African choirs, British folk music, Bhangra, Salsa, Blues and traditional drumming. Enjoy dance acts, including bollywood and belly-dancers, traditional storytelling and indulge in a little international retail therapy.

Craig McLeish, festival co-ordinator, said: "Milton Keynes has amazingly talented performers from different countries and cultures. The World Picnic is about sharing these amazing sounds and offering something new for music lovers in Milton Keynes.

The World Picnic is organised by a number of local community organisations, including The Parks Trust; Milton Keynes Council; Cultures Unite and KiK Music.

MK Bowl denies Celine Dion date

BY ALICIA BABAEE

alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

CELINE Dion could be playing the Bowl next summer as part of her world tour.

Tickets are already being sold on event websites for the date on May 7 next year.

But the National Bowl denies any knowledge of the concert.

Venue director Gordon Cockhill said: "To date we have had no discussions with any promoter with regards to an appearance by Celine Dion at the venue in 2008."

The tickets are being sold on theonlineticketshop.com, londonticketmarket.com, and onlineseats.com among others.

The date at the National Bowl is being listed as part of a tour that sees her performing in Paris, Cape Town, Shanghai, Toronto, Hamburg and many other cities.

Music entreprenuer and MK Dons chairman Pete Winkelman is also keen to start holding music events at the new stadium:mk.

It is understood he is already investigating how much it would cost to put seats and safety railings on the stadium's top tier for a non-footballing event.

On londonticketmarket.com tickets to see the Canadian singer at the Bowl range from £50 to £90, but theonlineticketshop.com is advertising tickets from £150 to £450.

Going on? Tickets are on sale for a MK Bowl Celine Dion date next May

Tickets are also being sold to see her at the O2 Millennium Dome in Greenwich, but as yet the Millennium Dome has not confirmed her appearance.

Celine had UK number ones in 1996 and 1998 with Think Twice and My Heart Will Go On and has had twelve top ten hits.

Out to crush city's mini moto menace

Police Supt Gez Chirariello with his children Daniella and Francesco look on as mini motos are crushed at Goodmans scrap yard

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

NUISANCE mini motos will be seized and crushed as police clamp down on the illegal craze on city estates.

Milton Keynes Community Safety Partnership has been working to increase awareness of the laws around miniature motorbikes after children as young as six were found riding them.

In a warning to offenders, police officers seized seven mini motos and crushed them at Goodman's scrap yard in New Bradwell yesterday.

Superintendent Gez Chiariello took his own children, Daniella, seven, and Francesco, five, to witness the mini motos being obliterated.

He said: "My son wants one but I'm going to show him that he can't have one.

"It's a craze but a lot of people don't know anything about the legislation.

"They can only be used on private land but, even in those circumstances, if you're not wearing safety equipment like a helmet and pads it's so dangerous."

The bikes, which can reach speeds up to 60mph, need to be registered with the DVLA, taxed – and the driver insured – to be used on public roads.

Council tenants also risk eviction from their homes if they cause anti-social behaviour by are riding mini motos illegally.

Chairman of Partnership's Safer Neighbourhoods, Isabella Frasier, said: "We've seen six and seven-year-olds on them and that's entirely the parents' fault. It's not something a child should have; they don't have the skills.

"We tried leaflets and they didn't take us seriously, so now we're making it plain."

November date for Olbrook killing trial

A 22-YEAR-OLD man has appeared in court charged with murdering his housemate.

Eric Erron Johnson, pictured, of Devonport Road, London, was remanded in custody at Milton Keynes magistrates court on Thursday.

The court heard details of an argument that allegedly resulted in the death of David Williams at his home in Oldbrook Boulevard, Oldbrook, on Friday, August 3.

Thames Valley Police released a photograph of Mr Johnson, who was seen running from the scene, in the hope that someone might know his whereabouts.

Last Tuesday, three weeks after the investigation began, detectives found him in London where he was arrested and taken to Milton Keynes Police Station before being charged.

On Thursday, Ros Wilmin, prosecuting, told magistrates that Mr Johnson had been living with Mr Williams in Oldbrook.

The defence made no application for bail and the case was committed to Luton Crown Court for November.

Herd this? John Webb and Kevin Brooks, of Webbs Groundworks, have been working to restore the cows to their former glory

Renovated concrete cows mooved to secret location

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

THE city's original concrete cows have been saved from extinction after three months of meticulous surgery.

The iconic cows were the victims of a mindless attack when vandals broke into the National Hockey Stadium in June.

The offenders high-jacked a fork-lift truck and uprooted the grazing cows from their paddock at the side of the MK Dons pitch, before scattering them across the playing surface, leaving them battered and bruised.

Udder devastation: The cows were thought beyond repair

This week David Foster, Chief Executive of The Parks Trust, owners of the cows, revealed that the original diagnosis was grim.

He said: "The extent of the damage was so great that we were concerned the cows were not repairable. Most people in Milton Keynes have really taken the cows into their hearts and vandalism of this nature was very upsetting."

The back of one cow had been cracked, one had a huge hole smashed in its side and another lost a leg.

The trust called in specialist contractors to repair the damage, reconstructing and repainting them at a cost of nearly £3,000.

The five cows, which weigh in at one ton each, are currently corralled at a secret location in Milton Keynes amid fears that they could be targeted again.

Mr Foster said: "There is a small amount of repair work still to be undertaken but the cows should be fully restored and back on public display soon."

The prized herd has become synonymous with the city following its creation by American artist Liz Leyh in 1978. The cows were originally loaned to the Dons so a wider audience to enjoy the city's major collection of public art.

A spokesman for the trust said the cows will eventually grace the Dons new home, stadium:mk, but could be showcased on a comeback tour across the city.

A replica set of concrete cows is still peacefully grazing in the park at Bancroft.

Making a tax-efficient Will now, could save your family many thousands of pounds in the future.

Increasing numbers of people, including homeowners, business people and investors, have assets that will be affected by inheritance tax upon their death.

The rapid rise in house prices mean that more and more people's estates will pay inheritance tax.

Making a will puts you in control and helps you to provide lasting security for those who depend on you. Without a will, those who depend on you financially may receive nothing, or your bequest may be held for them in trust unnecessarily. This can leave your loved ones having to make a claim to the Court for financial provision and unnecessary inheritance tax going to the Inland Revenue.

Nil rate band discretionary trust wills are of particular importance for married couples and offer great scope to mitigate the impact of Inheritance Tax on your Estate. This tax saving arises by the solicitor attempting to ensure that each spouse utilises their own nil rate band allowance, currently £300,000. A correctly drafted and administered will can offer a potential Inheritance Tax saving of £120,000.

We are experienced in advising clients on reducing the liability to tax on their estates, both through lifetime arrangements and under their wills, and in preparing trusts and other documents. We are happy to work with other professional advisors, believing in a 'joined up' approach to achieve the best results for the client.

We have specialist solicitors available at all our offices dealing with wills, ranging from simple wills for individuals and married couples to more complex wills including inheritance tax planning, whatever your circumstances.

Road sign rumpus to be resolved

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

BLETCHLEY and Fenny Stratford Town Council is set to discuss the 'Welcome to Bletchley' signs that have been put up on the edge of Fenny Stratford.

Last week MK NEWS revealed that the signs saying 'Welcome to Bletchley – Home of the Codebreakers' had ruffled feathers in the Fenny community.

They were erected as part of a £30,000 joint project between Bletchley and Fenny Stratford Town Council (BFSTC) and West Bletchley Parish Council.

But as well as being installed at every route into Bletchley, one has been put up on Simpson Road as going into Fenny Stratford.

While BFSTC said that Fenny had its own identity, West Bletchley Parish Council said it was 'struggling to see what the problem is'.

Now, following pressure from Fenny residents, parish Cllr Danny Galvin has tabled the issue for BFSTC's meeting on September 11.

Fenny resident and businessman Jon Gregory, who contacted his parish council over the issue, has demanded that the sign is taken down.

He said last week: "The business community of Fenny Stratford finds it incomprehensible that some bureaucrat without any local knowledge has taken it upon themselves to erect these misleading signs.

Now he has been told there might be some money left over to have the signs put up correctly.

He said: "With a bit of harassment, they just might see sense.

"It would be a good victory."

Bletchley and Fenny Stratford town clerk Lisa Courtney said that at a later date, signs would be put up behind the 'Welcome to Bletchley' ones, to define exact areas.

Milton Keynes Council, which put the signs up, said it was instructed exactly where to put them.

Diana remembered

IT was ten years ago tomorrow that the funeral took place of Diana, Princess of Wales.

On that day, September 6, 1997, thousands of city folk lined the M1 and took to motorway footbridges to pay their last respects.

The funeral cortege made its final journey northbound on the M1 past Newport Pagnell as people openly wept, crowded onto footbridges and service stations and scrambled down grass verges to steal a final look in what was described at the time as a mark of great respect by the people of Milton Keynes.

The event was covered by MK NEWS, then Milton Keynes on Sunday, as our front page from the September 7, 1997 edition shows.

2,500 new homes every year for the next two decades

Report gives the green light to MK Council's plan – Bucks County Council's proposal to build east of the M1 are dismissed

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A REPORT recommending plans to build thousands of new homes in Milton Keynes has been greeted by a mixed response from council parties.

An independent panel published the results of the South East Plan Examination in Public last week.

The panel considered proposals for the growth of Milton Keynes which were submitted by local authorities to the South East of England Regional Assembly in response to the South East Plan document.

The Government plans to build 200,000 new homes in the region, including more than 70,000 in Milton Keynes, by 2031.

The inspectors' report endorses proposals from the MK 2031 plan, submitted by Milton Keynes Council, proposing 49,950 dwellings over the period 2006 to 2026 at a rate of around 2,500 new homes every year.

The rest of the proposed 73,800 houses will then be built between 2026 and 2031 to meet the overall growth target.

The report suggests that some houses need to be built within the existing city boundaries but most will be built to the South West and South East.

It dismisses plans to build houses to the east of the M1, as proposed by Buckinghamshire County Council and Aylesbury Vale District Council.

MK Council leader, Isobel McCall, said: "The Lib Dems are delighted that the independent panel which looked at the SE Plan sees no need to build houses to the east of the motorway."

"We are also relieved that the panel doesn't believe there is a case for Milton Keynes to be asked to build even more homes, although the Government asked that more homes should be considered in the South East."

Milton Keynes Green Party has been objecting to expansion since the idea was floated ten years ago

Local Green Party campaigner Alan Francis said: "This [report] is very disappointing and means that the Labour Government's plans to double the size of Milton Keynes will go ahead.

"Facilities in Milton Keynes, such as the hospital, the city centre and the road network were designed for a population of about 250,000. They will not be able to cope with the 400,000 plus population proposed."

Cllr David Hopkins, Conservative spokesman for environment and growth-related issues, said: 'We remain concerned about the proposed levels of increased house-building and argue that the proposed expansion must meet with broad local support if the growth of Milton Keynes is to be sustainable."

The report has been submitted to the Secretary of State, who will publish her proposed changes to the South East Plan towards the end of the year.

This will be followed by a 12-week consultation.

Get on the bottle – drinks are free

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A REVERSE vending machine for recycling plastic bottles has been installed in thecentre:mk.

The new piece of machinery at Queens Court is part of a project to increase the number of plastic bottles recycled in the UK.

It will be there for a six month trial period. thecentre:mk is the first shopping centre in the country to get one.

The aim is to increase recycling in locations other than homes.

On feeding a bottle into the machine, shoppers will be rewarded with a voucher as an incentive.

It will offer a free hot drink with any medium, large or speciality pasty that's bought from Morris Pasties on Deer Walk.

The machine has been provided by RECycling Of Used Plastics (Recoup) as part of a partnership project with recycling service Recycling Options.

Carol Wakelin, cleaning manager at thecentre:mk, said: "We are always looking for ways to show our commitment to environmental issues and reducing landfill, and this is a brilliant way to recycle.

"We already provide vending machines which give our customers quick and easy access to drinks and we will be encouraging them to be 'green' by using the reverse vending machine provided, when they've finished.

Using a new kind of plastic: Carol Wakelin, cleaning manager at thecentre:mk tries the new reverse vending machine

"The machine will be situated in Queens Court, an open courtyard that is frequently used by shoppers as a relaxation area."

John Simmons, CEO of Recoup said: "This is a very exciting project for Recoup and also a key move in extending the opportunities to recycle plastic packaging.

"The positive response and co-operation from our partners in this initiative has been very encouraging."

Last year more than 100,000 tonnes of plastic bottles were recycled, saving 150,000 tonnes of carbon. It is the equivalent annual cooking requirements of just under 1million UK households.

This was mainly achieved through local authority recycling collections from the home.

Do not pass go: Prison officers form a picket line outside Woodhill Prison in a strike for better pay

Injunction cuts short prison officers' strike

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE prison officer strike at Woodhill was cut short by a High Court injunction.

The jail was under 'lockdown' as prison officers took part in a national strike over pay last Wednesday.

Staff throughout the service have expressed their disappointment that this year's pay award is 'below inflation for the vast majority' and at the Government's decision to stagger the pay increases.

Nearly 100 Woodhill officers walked out at 8am and formed a picket line at the prison's gates.

Meanwhile the 800 prisoners were locked in their cells.

The strike, which was meant to last 24 hours, was cut short after Government ministers obtained a court injunction against the Prison Officers Association (POA).

The POA currently has a 'no strike' agreement but has announced its intention to withdraw from it.

The Ministry of Justice, which is in charge of prisons, said the walk-out was a breach of the Industrial Relations Act.

Plug pulled on pool

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE end of an era has come as Wolverton's outdoor pool closed on Sunday.

The heated pool, which is 43-years old, was funded partly through the original efforts of local people from Wolverton, New Bradwell and Stony Stratford, who donated £4,325 towards the project.

The residents were keen to have a clean, safe pool to prevent their children from swimming in dangerous rivers.

The rest of the £52,000 needed was provided by Wolverton Urban District Council which built the facility.

After its opening ceremony on August 1, 1964, the pool attracted more than 20,000 visitors in its first 23 days.

The pool, which held 900 people at a time, was run by Wolverton and Watling Way Pools Trust.

It has closed to make way for a new health and social care facility to be built on the site and will be replaced by an Olympic-size indoor swimming pool.

The new pool will be built on land currently owned by Radcliffe School, on Aylesbury Street West and adjoining Western Road Recreation Ground.

Hilary Saunders, chairwoman of trust, said there is a slim chance the outdoor pool will open again next summer if the new pool and health centre are delayed.

"But this is only a chance, theoretically it is now closed," she said.

Splashing out: Opening day leaflet

Mrs Saunders, also chairwoman of Wolverton and Greenleys Town Council, said:

"I am one of the people that use it quite a lot," she said.

"It is a lovely pool surrounded by grass, and it is very big – it is 33metres when most are 25.

"The people who go there take a picnic and expect to be there for a day, you don't get that at the indoor pools."

However, she said it is difficult to keep an outdoor pool afloat.

"Outdoor pools do require a lot more subsidy as they are only used for four months of the year and people only use it on really nice days. That is why they are expensive to run.

"On the positive side, in the future we shall have splendid indoor facilities and it will be open all year round, which will mean a lot more opportunity for public swimming," she added.

The outdoor pool has seen a fall of 30 per cent below average takings this summer.

Matthew Leeder, pool manager added: "We used to have more seasonal weather, now it is all patchy.

"We have had some good spells this summer, but it has not been consistent."

Mr Leeder, who has worked at the outdoor pool for over 16 years, has warm memories of the facility.

"On a busy day you couldn't see a patch of grass with all the people enjoying the sun," he said.

"We have had people come from as far as London to use the pool.

But he too is looking forward to the new pool and added it would be good for local schools.

Mr Leeder is one of two full-time staff members at the outdoor pool, who will be temporarily transferred to Watling Way Centre, in Stony Stratford, until the new facility is built. There will be no redundancies.

Jessica Holroyd, councillor for Wolverton ward and a member of the trust, said: "I am very sorry to see the pool go, as I am sure is everyone in Wolverton.

"It has been an asset to the town.

"However, we must all look to the future and work to get a really good facility that becomes the hub of the community."

Natalie wows the crowd at young talent showcase

Small girl, big voice: 10 Year old Natalie Kassanja was asked for more

TALENTED youngsters took to the stage on Sunday to show Milton Keynes what they're made of.

The five-hour showcase attracted an impressive audience who had flocked to watch the city's up-and-coming DJs, singers, dance groups and beatbox performers in action.

Promoters from teeny-bopper club night MKVibe were on the prowl scouting for undiscovered bands to become regulars at their under 18s nights.

The crowd was treated to performances from Flaunt, Klassik, Bullit Kid, Eamon, Rocky, Vigar & Diddy, Lakeside, Mixed Origin, Rezon & Paranoi, Justice and Fathomless1 as well F-Tizzle and D-fam.

The show was stolen by 10-year-old Natalie Kassanja performing two of Whitney Houston's classics. But the audience wanted more and she was called upon to sing five times.

MKVibe also kicked off its new range of merchandise on the day, which was filmed by by 3rd Lens Ltd.

Things get bitter at Coke

WORKERS at the city's Coca Cola depot have staged a third strike over pay.

At 6pm on Monday technicians at the Northfield depot demonstrated their support for the Unite union's campaign to get a better pay deal.

It followed a 24-hour strike last Thursday when 100 members walked out of the production plant.

A Coca-Cola Enterprises spokesman said the strike affected only two of the four shifts at the plant and supplies were not affected.

Workers, who have walked out twice already in the past month, have already rejected a 2.5 per cent pay offer.

The company said it was continuing talks with the union to resolve the issues.

Tip top hip hop group's step in right direction

BY ALICIA BABAEE

alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A HIP hop dance group whose dreams looked to be slipping away from them could be about to receive a windfall from MK Arts Association.

Last month MK NEWS launched an appeal for Nemisis, who need to find £7,000 to get to the international championship finals in LA and Germany next year.

MK Arts Association, which provides money for arts projects in the city, saw the article and came forward with a potential offer of £1,500 to help them on their way.

MADCAP Performing Arts in Wolverton, which also saw the article, has offered the group the use of its purpose-built studio in they can make money by giving dance lessons.

The eight-member group won the UK Idance UK hip hop championships 2007, postponing a tour to represent the UK.

They have been performing anywhere they can in an attempt to get enough cash together, but need £6,000 to go to LA and £2,000 for Germany.

And they need it by March next year.

They are still hugely short of their target, despite securing a regular monthly slot at under 18s night MKVibe held at Buddha Blue.

Manager Andy Jones said: "After you ran the story MK Arts Association contacted us, the head of the dance section had seen it.

"They have pretty much given us the thumbs up. They've been looking for a Milton Keynes act.

"The group is very excited indeed. I'm going to the association in the second week of September."

The group needs to secure more bookings or work with a local company that can see its potential.

'Crew member' and choreographer Ishe Chirimuuta said: "We have worked endlessly to be the best in the UK and that was recognised earlier this year but we have bigger plans for Nemisis and to go global and compete against hip hop dancers from other countries would be a dream come true.

"We were really pleased to hear of MADCAP's support."

Karen Hedges, chairman of Milton Keynes Arts Association's dance panel, said: "It has to go to a panel with lots of other applications so there are no guarantees, but what I said was that I thought they stood a good chance.

"I just thought it would be great to support a group that's getting on but which needs a hand."

The group was founded in 2005, and originally consisted of just three dancers. Now there are six , who call themselves 'a family'.

■ You can see Nemisis perform next at the regular MKVibe night or see them online at http://www.myspace.com/nemisiscrew

Bourne to dance

'I like to surprise people': Matthew Bourne

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

ONE of the country's most renowned choreographic directors has brought his internationally acclaimed dance thriller The Car Man to Milton Keynes.

Matthew Bourne OBE's dance company New Adventures is performing the first revival of The Car Man at Milton Keynes Theatre until Saturday.

First seen in the West End in 2000, it went onto win the Evening Standard Award for'Musical Event of the Year and The Los Angeles Drama Critics Award for Best Choreography.

This 2007 production comes to Milton Keynes as part of a national tour.

The Car Man is loosely based on Bizet's popular opera Carmen, using primarily the music and themes of lust and revenge from the original.

The familiar 19th Century Spanish cigarette factory becomes a greasy garage-diner in 1960's America where the dreams and passions of a small Italian-American community are shattered by the arrival of a handsome stranger.

Fuelled by heat and desire, the inhabitants are driven into an unstoppable spiral of greed, lust, betrayal and revenge.

"Like you would expect from a thriller it is full of twists and turns and surprises," explained Matthew Bourne OBE, who is a five - time Olivier Award winner, the only British director to have won the Tony Award for both Best Choreographer and Best Director of a Musical, and was awarded an OBE commendation from the Queen in 2004. It is also based on a lot of film noir movies so there is a filmic look and feeling to the piece."

He said he is drawn to creating adaptations of classic opera and ballet as they provide audiences with something familiar. The prospect of unfamiliar music and dance and an evening without words is scary for some people," he said.

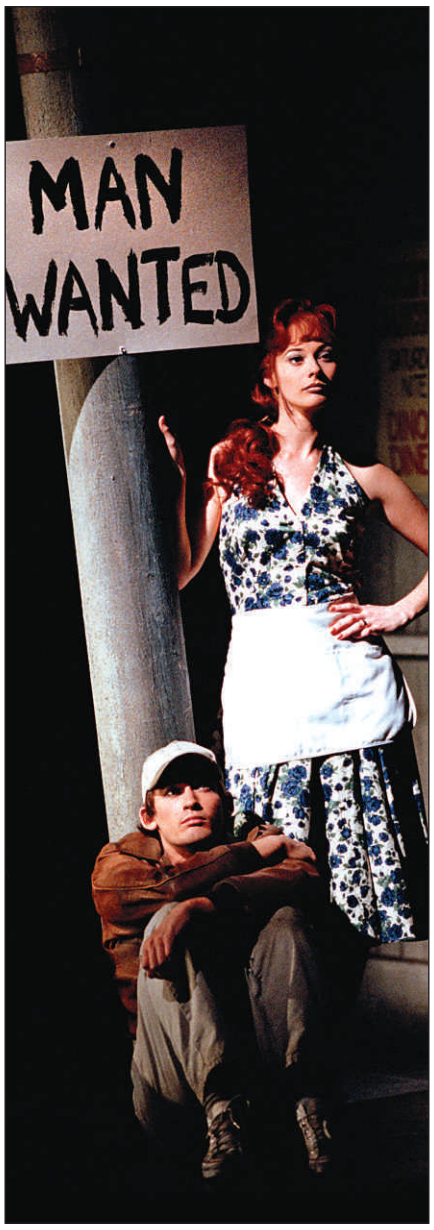
"People look for something with which they are familiar to identify with, so using well-known music or plots can be a way in for a lot of people.

"But I don't think you should give people simply what they know, that would be boring" he added, "I like to surprise people."

He said the characters in the dance are some of the best in his company's productions.

"This is the piece the dancers like the best as they can identify with the characters more than my other dances," he said.

"One of the interesting things is that you start off with established characters; you have the macho guy, the lusty woman and the timid woman and the timid guy, but these roles reverse so nothing is as you expect at the beginning. It is challenging as it involves acting as well as dancing."



New Adventures is performing the first revival of The Car Man at Milton Keynes Theatre until Saturday

The production has been reworked since it was originally shown in 2000.

"I am always meddling with my work," Mr Bourne added.

"The story is the same but we have taken a long hard look at the choreography and we all agree that it is stronger now.

"There is also new people in the cast, which brings a whole new energy to it and new ideas."

The Car Man is the fifth of Matthew Bourne's productions to grace Milton Keynes over the last few years, following in the footsteps of Swan Lake, Nutcracker!, Play Without Words and most recently Edward Scissorhands, which won the Manchester Evening News Award for 'Best New Dance Production'.

Mr Bourne has visited Milton Keynes many times with his productions and said he enjoys bringing his work to MK Theatre

"It is a great theatre, one of the best in the country," he said, "it is a lovely space, beautifully designed and we have one of the most loyal audiences in the country here. We are close to selling out already, which is way ahead of the rest of the country.

"When you first get here you do wonder where everyone is going to come from because everything is so spread out, but once everyone comes it is buzzing. The audience is always very enthusiastic."

‘Beach babe’ to raise money for hospice

Fundraiser: Anita Rose

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

CITY stalwart Anita Rose is to raise money for Willen Hospice’s new day facility.

The 67-year-old from Church Lees, Great Linford, who has been fighting for a beach in Milton Keynes for more than three years, will be collecting funds for Willen Hospice near the market in the city centre on September 11, 18 and 25.

The money will go towards building an extension to its day hospice which will offer an increase in space for patients, a room to meet patients and carers in privacy, a complimentary therapy room and a treatment room with hairdressing facilities.

The hospice has so far raised just over £30,000 towards its target of £50,000.

Mrs Rose, said she collected more than £100 for the hospice last year and wants to raise even more to help them build the much-needed facilities.

“My mother and mother-in-law died recently and Willen Hospice were very good to us,” she said, “because of them they died painlessly. It is a beautiful place.”

Mrs Rose suffers from emphysema and is becoming increasingly dependent on oxygen. I am 67-years old and not in good health – one day I might need their help,” she added.

“God forbid it happens but you have got to help those who might one day be helping you. This year I am going all out.”

A Willen Hospice spokesman said: “We are extremely grateful to Anita and everyone else in the local community who has got behind this appeal and helped push us closer to our target .”

The hospice is hoping to start building the extension in September.

Villages call for more beat bobbies

VILLAGERS are concerned about crime in their area following a series of thefts.

Police have urged the public to be vigilant after a number of incidents in which thieves stole lead from roof tops.

St Mary’s church in Moulsoe was one of the buildings targeted but the issue has raised deeper concerns for villagers who feel that crime in the area is not being tackled.

Cllr Sam Potts, who lives in North Crawley, conducted a survey among villagers and some residents told him they are not receiving the support they need.

He said: “The villagers are getting a raw deal. Ouse Valley is not getting the support it needs. For this very small community to raise enough money to replace the damage that has been done is going to be extremely difficult.

“Thames Valley Police now need to respond and give more police on the beat in our Ouse Valley Villages.”

A spokesman for the force said: “We continuously assess where we deploy our officers and how many resources we dedicate to each area.

“This assessment includes looking at the numbers and types of crimes occurring and the needs of communities, as well as our resilience to deal with incidents.

“We are currently in the process of recruiting PCSOs who will be responsible for dealing with low level crime and antisocial behaviour, as well as being highly visible.”

Members of the public are invited, during normal working hours, to view the exhibition which features a combination of pieces from the university's own art collection and specially placed work by ten local artists.

The works include acrylics, indoor and outdoor sculptures, screenprints and digital video installations.

Featured local artists include Paul Anand, Tom Calnan, Jean Carabine, Karen Cham and Edna Eguchi Read. Their work is joined by pieces from Anthony Hayes, Graham Mills, Ian Reynolds, Jessica Rost and Ruth Salter.

The walks are co-ordinated by the University's Artwork Group.

Some of its members will be leading guided art walks on Friday, September 14 and Monday, September 17.

Walks will begin at 12.35pm at the University's main reception in the Berrill Building.

An additional walk on Thursday, September 6, to mark Heritage Open Days, will also begin at 12.35pm. Booking is essential and can be made to estates-artwork-group@open.ac.uk

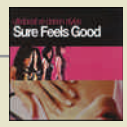
MUSIC REVIEWS

SURE FEELS GOOD



Ultrabeat vs Darren Styles

WELL, the name's handy, because it doesn't sound very good at all.

It's yet another in the seemingly never-ending line of generic dance tracks, where absolutely no expense has been spent on making the song as good as it can possibly be. It's very simple, whack it up to around 120bpm, chuck in some irritating bleepy noises that went out of fashion when Scooter went down the dumper.

Then get some poor unfortunate singer in to try and make herself heard, even though 75 per cent of her total contribution is repeat the name of the song over and over again.

If that's lazy, the same can be said for the video, in fact, the people behind the video might've known the song was a dud, so in what looks like a desperate attempt to get it requested on Smash Hits and The Box, they've filled the screen with females dancing around a poorly-disguised set while not wearing very much.

It's little short of infuriating to get served this plate of uninspired slop.

LET'S DANCE

Hi-Tack

Of course, if you're worried your own songs might be rubbish, you could always re-jig someone else's. It's worked a treat for Eric Prydz, and it seems to be working nicely for Hi-Tack as well.

Surprisingly, they've decided against updating Chris Rea's Number 12 smash from 1987 (wonder why?).

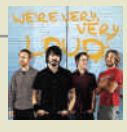
No, instead they've decided to take on some bloke called David Bowie or something, I dunno, he'll never get anywhere with a daft name like that. Apparently he had a hit with a song called Let's Dance back in the early 80s, but surely if it was that good it'd be on every 1980s compilation going, wouldn't it?

Sarcasm aside, let's be honest, if you're going to cover any Bowie song released after Ashes To Ashes, the chances are very high that it'd be Let's Dance, mainly because it is such a good song and partly because... well, can you name any others?

Rather handily, Hi-Tack have worked this out too, and they've kept the song almost completely intact. Yeah, they've beefed it up a bit and given it go-faster stripes and stuff, but the tune's still there and so are most of the vocals. In fact, there's so much Bowie on this song that if you ask me this probably should've been listed as a David Bowie remix.

Doesn't matter in the end though, the song's good and that's what really counts.

THE PRETENDER



Foo Fighters

THERE'S a general rule that tends to work for me regarding the Foo Fighters – the worse the video, the better the song.

There are exceptions, but generally it holds true.

The good news here then, is that the video is not that great, which means the song is.

It starts off a little bit like U2 and Green Day's The Saints Are Coming in that it's very quiet and unexciting for the first thirty seconds or so then explodes into life – and by heck, does it explode or what?

Dave Grohl spends half the song in full-on Screaming-Until-His-Lungs-Burst mode, bless him, and the rest of the band are only too happy to try and make their instruments scream too.

The guitars get thrashed to within an inch of their lives and the drum kit takes the sort of beating you'd normally only see if Brazil were playing Cowdenbeath in a friendly at the Maracana. Smashing stuff.

GARDEN LIFE

Sudden impact: Chrysanthemums are great value and return every year getting bigger and better

Go large – splash out on colour

AUTUMN is one of the busiest times in the gardening calendar and time to think about adding plants to your garden for autumn and winter interest.

Create immediate impact with chrysanthemums, these plants are great value and when planted in the border return every year getting larger and more impressive as time goes by.

Chrysanthemums are easy to find, come in a wide range of colours and also look great planted in big terracotta pots to brighten up your front door or patio.

Sedums with their heavy fleshy leaves and bold autumn shades of pinks and reds just ooze autumnal mood.

Japanese anemones come in assorted pinks and whites and varieties vary from dwarf to tall so you can find one to use at the front or rear of the border.

Two plants to consider for their winter effects are Callicarpa, with its lurid purple berries and Sarcococca (winter box) which is a must have for its intense sweet fragrance. It's difficult to believe that such an understated appearance has such a sublime scent.

Plant it by the door so you get a waft of it as you walk in.

Throw out those faded summer baskets and tubs and replace with fresh autumn planting. Winter pansies, primulas, heathers, cyclamen and ornamental cabbages are natural choices.

Lawns have really suffered in this year's heavy rain.

They have been leached of nutrients, fading to a pale green and, of course, creating the ideal situation for moss.

Over the next couple of months rake out dead thatch, treat your lawn to an autumn feed and re-turf or seed thin patches.

Keep an eye out for leather jackets and either use nematodes or a chemical killer.

Most spring flowering bulbs are in the shops now so plant prepared hyacinths, and paper white narcissus for fragrant Christmas flowers.

SEPTEMBER JOBS

- Wrap grease bands around the trunks of fruit trees to protect against moths
- Carefully lift main crop potatoes, let the skins dry out and store in a dark frost free place
- Wallflowers can be grown on their own but they look fabulous with tulips growing through them
- Trim back lavender bushes
- Give roses a final deadheading and shorten tall stems slightly
- Cover autumn-fruiting raspberries, blackberries and other cane fruits with netting to keep the birds away
- Keep an eye on early ripening apples, such as Discovery, and pick the fruit as soon as it's ready
- Trim hedges and topiary

Purple patch: The lurid berries of Callicarpa will add winter colour to your garden

SUBWAY

Station House, Queensway Bletchley and thecentre:mk

Review by Rob Gibson

SUBWAY has a lot of fans but could they convince our own team of tasters if their subs match their reputation?

The chain has cornered the market for submarine sandwiches and was reported as the fastest-growing franchise in the world last year.

Some analysts attribute Subway's fast growth to the growing concern on health by restaurant customers and some clever marketing around an American case study.

In 1999, an Indiana University student named Jared Fogle lost 245 pounds with a diet made up mostly of Subway sandwiches combined with exercise.

Whether they knew about young Jared or not, the health concious ones in our office tucked into the six-inch subs from the under-6g menu.

These included ham, turkey breast, and turkey breast & ham.

Subway tends to be very generous with its salad and there was no shortage of greenery in any of the subs.

The bread is fresh and the salad crisp and each sub is generously filled.

The veggie delight and the tuna sub were popular and one of our tasters confessed to having a soft-spot for a lean Italian number called Italian BMT.

The menu also features five salads as well as cookies and muffins.

Tea, coffee and cappuccinos are available at each of the city's three Subway outlets.

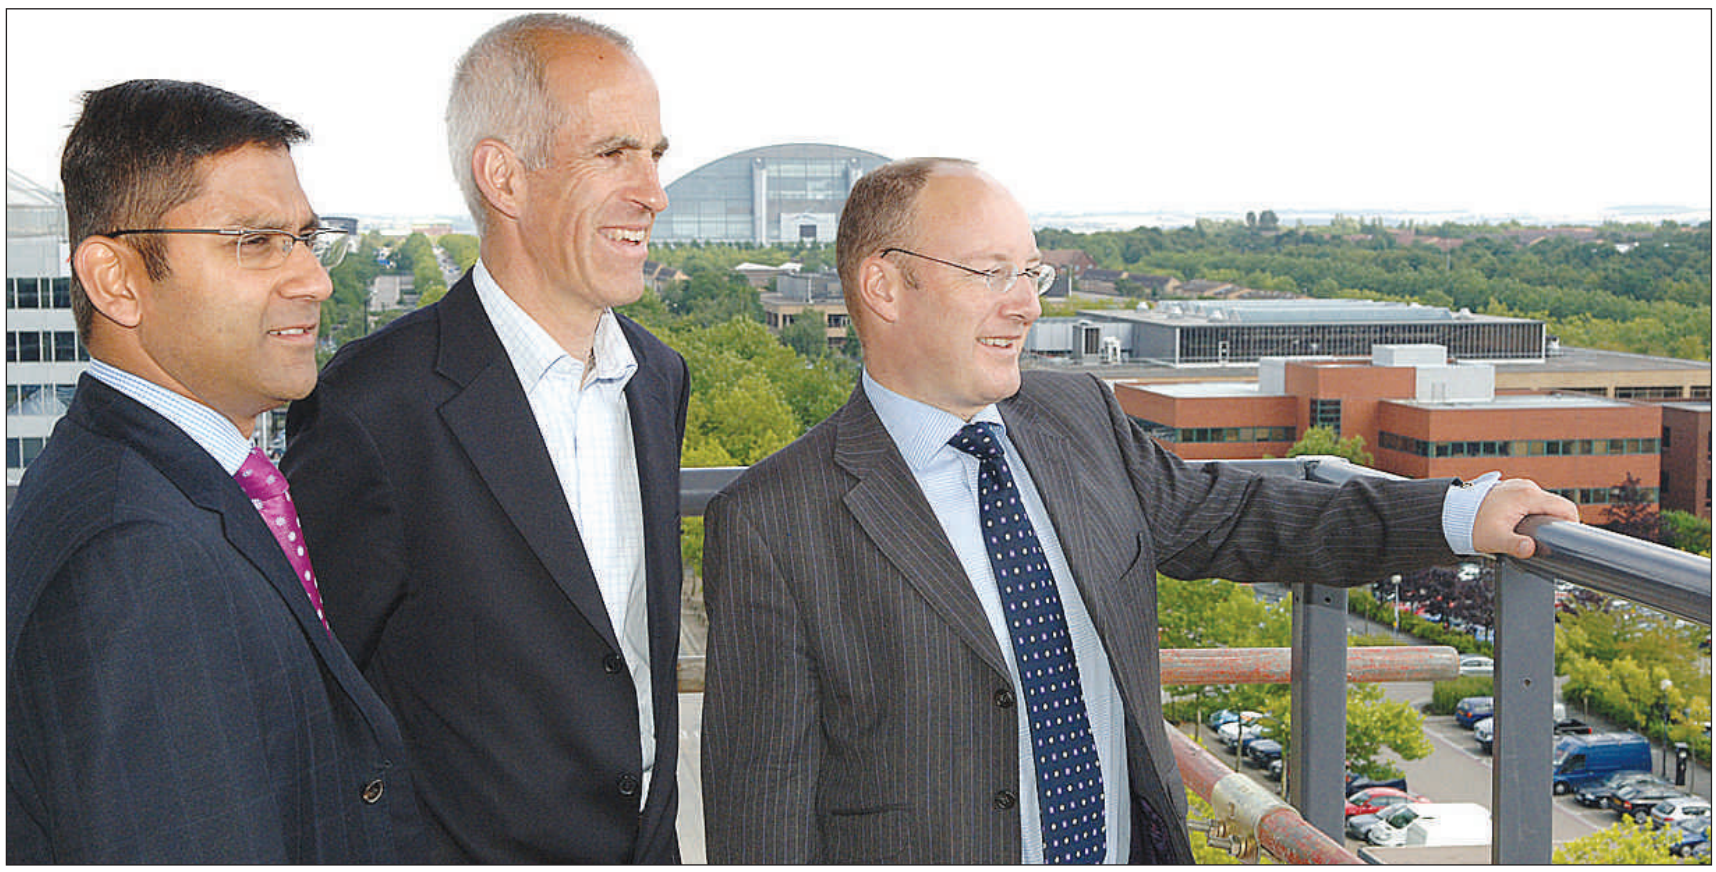
Team has views on Milton Keynes



HSBC will be moving its corporate banking team into brand new offices on the top floor at thehub:mk with sweeping views over Milton Keynes.

Robin Penfold said: "HSBC Corporate Banking is delighted to be associated with one of Milton Keynes premier property developments and we look forward to moving into the premise in due course."

Steve Rice, associate director at Frontier Estates said: "thehub:mk is Milton Keynes' landmark city centre living development and represents a mix of both retail and commercial premises as well as residential.

"We are delighted to have concluded this deal with HSBC and look forward to welcoming the corporate banking team later in the year."

Pictured: Sacha Balachandran and Robin Penfold of HSBC flank Steve Rice of Frontier Estates as they admire the view over the city from the bank's new office

Smaller companies should shop around for best banking deal

THE Forum of Private Business (FPB) has stressed the need for smaller companies to shop around for the best deal following the announcement of plans by the Competition Commission to lift price controls on the UK's four largest banks.

Matt Hardman, the FPB's campaigns manager, said: "It's inconsistent for business groups that campaign against regulation and believe in competition to support price controls. Our aim is to make competition work and encourage smaller businesses to negotiate with their banks, shop around for the best service, and change banks if they are not satisfied."

Mr Hardman said that the FPB, which campaigns on behalf of 25,000 smaller businesses across the UK, commissioned a biennial survey of the major banks' performances from Nottingham University.

He said: "The survey, released in the autumn last year, showed clear evidence of a general improvement in the banks' performances as experienced by smaller businesses. The performance index shows the highest level since 1998.

"While slightly more smaller businesses considered switching banks, the report suggested this was because of a change in attitude, due to measures taken by the Office of Fair Trading (OFT)."

The survey covered 3,700 firms, and explored attitudes to 7 major banks, including the 'big four' covered by the price controls: HSBC, Barclays, LloydsTSB and the Royal Bank of Scotland.

Of these four banks, Barclays had the highest percententage of respondents not considering changing banks (almost 70%), while LloydsTSB had the lowest (about 55 per cent).

However, the survey found that the taking of personal collateral for loans at the levels often required was still a fundamental issue for smaller businesses.

Mr Hardman added: "We will continue to monitor the performances of the major banks through our biennial survey and our many contacts with our members. The big four are said to have a market share of 85%; it's important that they do not abuse their dominant position."

If you are after a desk job, don't apply at environmental health

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

IF you are fed up of sitting behind a desk five-days-a-week and would rather be out and about, the variety of the Environmental Health Department at MK Council could be up your street.

Environmental health officers serve residents and businesses in the city by dealing with a wide variety of issues and enforcing a broad range of legislation.

Their responsibilities extend from food safety, health and safety at work, dealing with complaints about rubbish, rodent infestation and domestic noise nuisance, to responding to incidents of infectious diseases and food poisoning.

They also enforce and provide advice to those affected by the no smoking law and enforce pollution legislation.

At its base in the Civic Offices on Silbury Boulevard, a team of more than 30 works together to resolve issues like these and carry out inspections on local businesses, hospitals, factories and other institutions.

On the morning I visited I joined a senior environmental health officer as she inspected an address in Greenleys where they had previously issued a notice to the landlord to clear a mound of rubbish in the back garden after complaints from neighbours.

We found sofas, stereos, a mattress, black sacks full of rubbish and food waste still in the back garden, so the officers will be taking further action against the owner.

We then visited another property where a rat infestation had been dealt with and later carried out a food inspection on a restaurant.

The officer, who has worked in environmental health for nearly 15 years, said the job is very busy and diverse.

"It is a bit like spinning lots of plates quite a lot of the time," she said.

"No two days are ever the same."

She claims she was attracted to the role as she is out of the office for about half of her working week.

"I enjoy being out and about and meeting people," she added.

"One of the things we have to deal with quite a lot is filthy and verminous properties.

"Recently we had to arrange to clear a house to eradicate mice after complaints from neighbours."

The house had attracted vermin after the owner, who has mental health problems, had hoarded piles of litter, furniture and bric-a-brac in every room. She was sleeping on a blanket on top of the rubbish.

"The woman was not capable of cleaning it up herself, and it was causing a public health risk, so we had to clear the house and then get pest control in and charge her afterwards.

"We had to climb over everything to get in as the front door was blocked.

"We found around 57 mice and rat nests and filled seven skips."

You don't have to mind getting your hands dirty, but the environmental health officer's role is key to keeping the people of Milton Keynes safe.

The traditional route to become an officer is to complete an undergraduate degree or masters in environment health.

However, you can join the department as a technical assistant without a degree.

The Company

Think Smart Marketing is a progressive marketing company that finds intelligent and cost effective ways of addressing sales and marketing objectives. We cover all marketing disciplines across a wide number of industry sectors.

Our ongoing success means we're looking to grow our Operations team with two Account Executives.

Account Executive

The Role

You will support one or more of the Account Managers in the business to help deliver a variety of marketing projects such as websites, print, eMarketing campaigns, copywriting and data management. Whilst this is a supporting role that does include some administration, you will have the opportunity to fully own key elements of projects or take full responsibility for particular projects as and when allocated by the Account Manager. The role requires a high level of accuracy and organisation.

The Person

We need bright, intelligent, hard working, self starters. You'll have a good eye for detail, be able to work within set procedures and be happy to get involved in a bit of everything at varying levels. You're articulate, computer literate and a good communicator both written and verbally. This role offers great promotion opportunities for those willing to prove themselves. Marketing experience would be ideal but is not necessary. This role would suit a Marketing Graduate keen to give their career a kick start.

The Package

You can expect a salary of circa 20-23k per annum (depending on experience), 22 days holiday (increases with each year of service up to 25 days), staff motivational events and the opportunity to develop your career working in an exciting and progressive environment.

An exciting opportunity has arisen to join our Quality Control Department based at Flitwick. You will be a member of the QC team, with leadership from a QC Supervisor and will be responsible for ensuring product quality, through testing and making appropriate decisions and actions based on the test results. Due to a new relationship with a major retailer we are busier than ever and require additional sales team members.

Our market-leading Bedroom and Home Office furniture looks fantastic in the showroom. But it must also look and feel great in the home.

MKMOTORING

Striking looks and interior quality – welcome to the new Peugeot 308

Its here! The new Peugeot 308 has arrived at Perry's Milton Keynes. This year has seen the arrival of the new 207 SW, 207 GTi and 4007 4x4 and now the 308 is here to complete the Peugeot family and we know that the 308 will make a big impression.

The 308 is already What Car? Magazine "Star Car for September"

The 308 is revolution in evolution its styling is highly distinctive and Peugeot is very proud of the high quality interior.

The sleek, streamlined shape of the 308 slices through the air resulting in less drag, greater economy and reduced CO2 emissions.

The beauty of the 308 is that it's not only more environmentally friendly but it presents you with our friendliest ever driving environment.

You can enjoy an interior where you'll revel in space, bathed in light from the panoramic cielo roof* and relax with reduced noise thanks to its best in class acoustics.

As WHAT CAR? Says, "If the striking looks don't grab you, the interior quality certainly will"

Over 300,000 customers bought a 307 and here at Perry's we are sure they will feel right at home in the 308. Satellite navigation systems are available with a pop up screen in the dashboard for getting around the H and V's in Milton Keynes!* Attractive and easy to use rotary controls for heating and ventilation have been introduced in the 308 for functionality and aesthetics inside the vehicle.

The options are endless with the 308 so why stop at the interior, there are six engine options available to you, 1.4 95bhp , 1.6 120 bhp and 1.6 150 bhp turbo are the petrol options. 90bhp & 110bhp 1.6 and 136bhp 2.0 are available in the diesel engine. The 1.6 90 HDi diesel offers exceptionally low carbon dioxide output of just 120g/km, which can rarely be seen in a vehicle this size.

Peugeot offer their newest vehicle in a range of 5 trim options, Urban S, Sport, SE and the GT. Prices start from only £11,995 OTR.

Perry's Milton Keynes are pleased to introduce the new 308 to you and would like to invite the readers of MK NEWS to attend the Perry's official launch event at The Lantern room in the Sculpture Gallery at Woburn Abbey to give this new vehicle the introduction we all feel it deserves!

Why not come and test drive the new 308 in the serene surroundings of Woburn and give the 308 the opportunity to show you its refreshingly new interior and striking exterior!

Perry's Milton Keynes Official launch of the 308 is taking place on Wednesday September 12, 2007 from 12pm-8pm. The launch of Peugeots newest vehicle is expected to be a great success and we would like you to be part of that and share the excitement with us at Perry's.

There are limited test drive slots available and so readers need to contact one of our sales executives on 0845 337 2423 to ensure you are not disappointed.

Alternatively, if you are interested in the 308 but cannot make the Launch date please feel free to call into the dealership where we have the vehicle on display to collect a brochure and speak to one of our advisors for more information.

*Sat Nav available as optional extra, Cielo roof available on SE & GT Models.

PREVIEWS

NOTTS COUNTY
League Two
Friday, September 7. KO 7.45pm stadium:mk

THE first night league game of the season sees Notts County visit stadium:mk.

MK Dons will be hoping to bounce back with style, following their last minute defeat against Rochdale.

And the Magpies are still in search for their first win of the season, after a slow start has seen them draw all four of their matches.

When the two teams met last season, the match was marred by the serious leg break of MK NEWS columnist Paul Mitchell.

The Dons won their home game, but a last minute header from Stephen Hunt stole a point in the return leg at Meadow Lane.

One Dons player to keep an eye on is Lloyd Dyer, the explosive winger scored three goals in the two games against County last year.

While the Dons have had captain Keith Andrews to inspire them, County have their own midfielder who is not too shy in front of goal.

Richard Butcher has fired County level on three occasions this season, with four goals to his name, to rescue three points in as many games.

Veteran striker, and cult-figure, Jason Lee could return from his three-match suspension for the Magpies.

The Dons will be hoping Aaron Wilbraham recovers from an illness, that saw him miss the Rochdale game, in time to boost the striking options.

THERE was plenty of activity throughout the league on deadline day, the Dons brought in striker Jemal Johnson on a two-year-deal, while Jon-Paul McGovern left for Swindon Town.

In case you missed a Dons move through the summer, here is a full round-up of all the changes.

IN: Colin Cameron (Coventry), Mustapha Carayol (Swindon), Jemal Johnson (Wolves), Willy Gueret (Swansea), Nathan Abbey (Brentford), Luke Howell (Gillingham), Alan Navarro (Macclesfield), Danny Swailes (Macclesfield), Mark Wright (Walsall), Kevin Gallen (QPR), Drewe Broughton (Chester).

OUT: Clive Platt (Colchester), Izale McLeod (Charlton), Jon-Paul McGovern (Swindon), Jamie Smith (retired), Dominic Blizzard (released), Gary Smith (released), Ben Harding (released), Nicky Rizzo (released), Adolfo Baines (released), Ben Chorley (released).

MILWALL Under-18s handed MK Dons their third successive defeat of the season.

The Dons were 2-0 down with an hour on the clock, before David King's half-volley grabbed a goal back.

But, Milwall put the nail in the coffin when 'keeper Kurt Fox was beaten and the game finished 3-1 in favour of the Lions.

MK Dons have announced details of their Elite Development Programme which provides boys playing in the age groups Under-9 to Under-14 a greater stepping stone to the Dons Academy through the Development and Elite Centres.

The centres will be held at three venues including Newport Pagnell, Buckingham and Deanshanger commencing the week beginning Monday, September 17.

Details from Chris McGuane on 622888.

Last gasp: A stretching Dean Lewington fails to keep out Chris Dagnall's injury time winner for Rochdale

Goal one: Kevin Gallen, in for Wilbraham, hits Dons' first

Goal two: Kevin Gallen again as he negates Dale's leveller

Dale of tears

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

DEFEAT is always a bitter pill to swallow, but when you concede two goals in the dying minutes to lose a game you have dominated throughout, it is certainly made that much harder.

MK Dons could have won their second game on the bounce, instead they were dealt their second defeat of the season.

Going 2-1 up, with plenty of time and control on the ball, the Dons looked as though they could avenge the horror result of last year.

The Spotland stadium has bad memories for Dons fans and players, after the team were hammered 5-0 on their last visit, but on the back of their first win of the season and a battling display in the Carling Cup, there was reason to feel optimistic.

A great positive they can take from the match was Kevin Gallen getting his name on the score sheet.

With the Dons suffering the blow that Aaron Wilbraham, who is recapturing the form of old as he regains his fitness, would miss the game through illness, it was Gallen who stepped up to the plate.

The former-QPR striker has not yet hit the form expected of him, but has continued to plug away up front when given the chance and would have been relieved to get off the mark when he headed home Lloyd Dyer's pinpoint delivery to give the Dons the lead.

The star performer on the day for Dale, Chris Dagnall, would not give up three points without a fight and pulled the home side back on level terms when he left Willy Gueret stumped in goal, as he struck a curling shot into the top corner.

But you are at your most vulnerable when you have scored a goal and the Dons took great advantage with Gallen adding his second within a minute of Dale scoring.

The Dons could have punished them further as they looked the more comfortable side when charging forward.

But, Dale had the inspiration of tongue-in-cheek fanzine previews pinned in their dressing room, which belittled the club, and its achievements, to fire them up for the game.

Add to that the inclusion of Adam Le Fondre shortly after half-time, the home side began to find their feet.

A last ditch attempt at stealing a point by Dale worked as Le Fondre's thunderbolt strike took the teams level on the 90th minute.

And Dagnall broke the travelling fans hearts seconds later when he bundled Le Fondre's shot, which hit the cross bar, past a recovering Dean Lewington to snatch all three points with a 3-2 win.

Dons manager, Paul Ince, said: "We were by far the better side and after last season when we lost 5-0 here, it was all the more disappointing to lose the game in such a manner.

"We had plenty of chances to win it, but in the end we've paid the price for a lack of concentration.

"It was a cruel blow and all the players are feeling down. We've got to pick ourselves up and dust ourselves down, but that was another three points dropped."

False dawn: Mark Wright congratulates Kevin Gallen after his headed cross led to Gallen's second against Rochdale on Saturday

FANS' FAVOURITE WRITES FOR YOU

PAUL MITCHELL

ANYONE who listens to Dons World on a Saturday will probably know that I was cutting it a bit fine getting to my seat for kick off.

Having hit some traffic on the way to Rochdale I struggled to get a good parking spot and had to hobble a fair distance to the ground.

Saying that, the walk back afterwards gave me fair time to reflect on the game and its last few minutes.

Having seen us control the match for more or less the full 90 minutes, the end result came as a complete bombshell. Football has a nasty habit of doing that and it often doesn't give what you deserve.

My feeling walking back to the car was that we had been robbed. At least Dick Turpin had the respect to wear a mask!

We felt we defended very well for long parts of the contest and never looked in any real danger till the end.

It was also nice to see Kevin Gallen get two very good goals and I have a feeling there will be many more from him.

As I've said before on many occasions, after a defeat the next match can't come quickly enough.

Anyone who has watched us will know that night games usually bring the best out of us.

Friday's game against Notts County will bring a few mixed emotions for me to say the least. It's well documented how I broke my leg and ankle against them in February, so you can understand me maybe not being so overjoyed in seeing them so soon.

I have no ill feeling towards Stephen Hunt as it wasn't a bad tackle. Injuries happen, it's just the nature of the sport. But a victory would be nice little payback for eight months in the gym!

The transfer window has now close and I have to say that it has left us with a very strong-looking squad. There was also one departure in JP, I was very sad to see him go as we were good friends but that is football and things move so fast. Everybody wishes him all the best.

So hopefully I will see you all on Friday night at the game cheering us on as always and hopefully without a hangover Saturday morning!

Lightning scored six in both of their games, with Ross Bowers and Michael Wales getting hat-tricks, and conceded four in two dominating displays.

With a mix of old and new faces, it was chance for player-coach Nick Poole to get an idea of his teams chances before the league campaign starts in two weeks.

Poole said: "I was pleased with the performances, it was the first chance to look at the new players in a competitive game."

Last season was the first time in five years that Lightning have not picked up a piece of silverware, but Poole is setting his sights high this time round.

"Realistically our target this year is the top three for the league. There are three trophies up for grabs and we want to be in the finals."

After a long summer break, Poole admitted the players were glad to be back out on the ice, he said: "We are looking forward to playing Peterborough this weekend and we're playing for the ashes!"

The 'ashes' at stake are those of the equipment former Lightning players James Morgan and Dwayne Newman used before they moved to Peterborough in the summer.

"They are our biggest rivals and for two players to move from MK to Peterborough is a pretty big deal. The ashes will give the game an extra competitive edge, and a little added twist for fans."

■ Face-off at the Planet Ice Arena is 7pm. The return leg is on Sunday, at Peterborough's Planet Ice, face-off is at 5.30pm.

Britain's best: Christian Malcolm, Craig Pickering, Mark Lewis-Francis and Marlon Devonish

Pickering picks up relay bronze in world champs

CRAIG Pickering ended his World Athletic Championships on a high, claiming a bronze medal in the 4x100 metres relay.

The MK athlete had suffered heartache in his own 100m a week earlier when he was knocked out in the semi-finals, but a stunning display from Great Britain's top four sprinters ensured the men did not leave the championships empty handed.

The quartet of Christian Malcolm, Pickering, Marlon Devonish and Mark Lewis-Francis grabbed a bronze medal in some style and came within a 100th of a second of snatching silver as Lewis-Francis was edged out by Jamaica's Asafa Powell, with USA claiming gold.

The team clocked 37.90sec, the third fastest time in British history, and 0.17sec faster than the time that brought Olympic gold three years ago in Athens.

Pickering, 20, ran the second leg and was delighted to claim his first medal at a senior championship, he said: "It is just so fantastic. I am a young guy who has experienced something amazing and it makes us so hungry to achieve more at next year's Olympic Games."

The men's relay side were expected to challenge for a medal before the race, but there was an added pressure after they had committed the cardinal sin and dropped the baton at the Norwich Union Grand Prix in Crystal Palace last month.

"I was so nervous, particularly after what had happened at Crystal Palace but the changeover was great. When I shouted 'hand' and Marlon took the baton, there was such relief," Pickering added, "It is a great race to run in, but you are glad when you hand the baton over.

"I followed Marlon around the bend shouting 'go, go go' - and he did."

Next year the men will be defending their Olympic title in Beijing and the performance has given the team a new optimism that gold could be possible

Pickering said: "This result gives us something more to go for at the Olympics."

Dons stadium pencilled in for Bulgaria international

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

INTERNATIONAL football could be on its way to Milton Keynes.

MK Dons home, stadium:mk, is being touted as a possible venue for England's 2009 UEFA European Under-21 Championship qualifier.

The game planned to take place at the new stadium is England's qualifier against Bulgaria in November.

A spokesman for MK Dons said: "The club has been provisionally approached by the FA with a view to hosting the UEFA Under-21 Championship Qualifier between England and Bulgaria on Friday, November 16.

"Negotiations are ongoing but no decision has yet been reached and there are still a number of other clubs being considered for the event.

"This approach has come earlier than anyone had expected but we're delighted that, even with only phase one of the stadium being finished, we are in contention to host such a prestigious, competitive event."

England have been drawn in Group 3 alongside Bulgaria, Portugal, Republic of Ireland and Montenegro with the finals set to start in Sweden in June 2009.

The Dons have previously hosted two successful England Women's games at the National Hockey Stadium, but with the chance of seeing Stuart Pearce's side take part in their qualifying campaign, they are hoping to draw in big crowds.

The club are still waiting to receive a safety certificate, that will allow a full capacity crowd of 22,000 to attend, in time for the championships.

Speaking to MK NEWS in February, MK Dons chairman, Pete Winkelman, admitted the stadium had been designed to host one-off events.

He said: "It would be great to be host to special occasions, whether it's NFL, the odd rugby league or union game or perhaps an International Under-21 match.

A spokesman for The Football Association said: "No venue has been confirmed for the November fixture as yet. We're considering a number of options and I can't say anything further at this stage."
